

About us

This web site, a product of research and analysis by international experts, is intended to stimulate debate and dialogue around a set of issues that will have a profound bearing on progress towards improving the quality of human life by enabling people to do more, feel better and live longer.

Moreover PH&ICO is a non-profit organization, and receives no annual budget. It aims to stimulate the research and accelerate the development, the evaluation, and the appropriate use of new and affordable biocides for the prevention of priority diseases such as HIV/AIDS, tuberculosis and other similar illnesses which cause high levels of disability and mortality undermining the welfare of a nation as well in developing and developed countries.

It also means that we must dedicate and extend our experiences to developing word where infections are the main cause of debilitating diseases and mortality, and where the access to life-saving medicines and vaccines poses economic and logistic problems.

We are active in several countries, guaranteeing that we are close to patients, doctors and business partners everywhere in Europe, Africa, Asia, Australia, North and South America.
